

Bob Dylan: All the Songs - the Story Behind Every Track

COMING OCTOBER 2015

This all-new, encyclopedic history of Bob Dylan's work reveals the inside stories and little-known details behind the recordings of every album and every single released during Dylan's illustrious career.

Music historians Philippe Margotin and Jean-Michel Guesdon offer a definitive look at Dylan's creative process and organic, unencumbered style of recording. Organized chronologically by album, this massive compendium includes bootlegs, singles, and hundreds of rare photographs. Also detailed are the inspirations for Dylan's music and lyrics, the many artists who covered his songs, and the different musicians that made up his band.

Philippe Margotin has written numerous books on music, including biographies of Led Zeppelin and the Rolling Stones. He lives in Paris, France. Jean-Michel Guesdon is a producer and musician. His talents as a musician, composer and sound engineer allow him to have a unique perspective on Dylan's work. Together they wrote All the Songs: The Story Behind Every Beatles Release.
